

Antenna, Electronic Door Lock Control Processor

- The electronic door lock control processor antenna is a coaxial cable that is located in rear of vehicle.
 - The electronic door lock control processor antenna's function is to receive the signal from the keyless entry remote transmitter (15K601) and relay it to the electronic door lock control processor (14B001).
-